C1 Listening exam

You will listen to a TED talk and answer 15 multiple choice questions regarding the audio. You will be allowed time to read the questions and then you will listen to two or three extracts. You will be given a second opportunity to listen to the extracts and a few minutes after to allow time to finish marking your answers.

C1 Speaking exam

The speaking exam is designed to test both listening and speaking competencies.

You will be given a topic to talk about for around 8 minutes. You will be given time to make notes beforehand, but students must understand that these notes are just for ideas and not to be read aloud.

You will then engage in conversation with your examiner relating to two different topics introduced.

You will be assessed on the following criteria:

COMMUNICATIVE EFFICIENCY

- Comprehensibility
- Communicative functions
- Sociolinguistic appropriation

DISCURSIVE CAPACITY

- Coherence of ideas
- Organisation
- Discursive development

SCOPE OF LANGUAGE

- Lexicon
- Grammar
- Cohesion
- Consistency
- Correct use of tenses

FORMAL CORRECTION

- Comprehensive repertoire
- Use of complex structures

The exam will be filmed.

C2 Listening exam

You will listen to a TED talk and answer 30 questions about the audio. There will be 3 extracts, you will hear each audio twice. You will need to write an answer or choose option a,b or c. Wrong answers will not be punished with negative scores.

Do not answer yes/no in yes/no questions, briefly answer fully to prove comprehension.

To pass you must answer 18 correctly.

You will be given 5 minutes beforehand to read the questions and 5 minutes after to complete and correct your answers.

C2 Speaking exam
